

Who's Next

When the Who's Next & Premiere Classe trade show came to Dubai last week, Grazia was seated centre front row to applaud new talent making its way to our region. From accessories to couture gowns, and capping it off with a series of parties that took in Okku, Cavalli Club and the Madinat Jumeirah's terrace. Talk about a brilliant event!

Harper's Bazaar Fortnight of Fashion

Harper's Bazaar Arabia's Fortnight of Fashion ended in spectacular style with an in-store runway A/W'10 show at Ralph Lauren. Models sashayed along the catwalk while VIP guests mentally selected their new wardrobe. Then, to formally end the fortnight, the winner of the Harper's Bazaar fashion illustrator competition was revealed. Isobel O'Connor wowed the judges enough to take home first place.

PARTY PEOPLE

Sharmela Puri launch

It was bling at every turn when Sharmela Puri launched her latest jewellery collection at the Armani Hotel last week. We Dubai ladies are used to being dazzled by sparkly things, but this took 'bling-tastic' to a whole new level! A lucky few got to try on the wares, while the rest of us went home and dreamed about owning a Sharmela Puri original.

Mingle!

Who said ladies' night has to be on a Tuesday? When Grazia teamed up with Left Bank at Souk al Bahar, the result was Mingle – a Wednesday night affair that saw Dubai's trendy set grooving to tunes from the resident DJ, sipping cocktails and enjoying free canapés (with a flash of their Grazia Insider card, that is). See you next Wednesday!
