DRINKS DIRECTORY

“The atmosphere of a great bar will effect most cultured men and women in approximately the same way. It will conjure relaxation, it will invite depth and savour to fellowship. It will encourage reflection. In short a great bar is a place of high purpose. A great bar is a way of life.”

Esquire, 1954

MODERN CLASSICS

French Martini  45
This is the more recent, and popular, incarnation of a stunning cocktail. In our humble opinion it is also the more superior. Crème de mure, fresh blackberries and a long pour of Skyy vodka are complemented by fresh pineapple juice and shaken at length to produce a distinct head.

Pimms No1  39
The perfect antidote to our year round summers. Pimms and Bombay Sapphire gin served long with strawberries, cucumber, lemonade and ginger beer.

Singapore Sling  50
While the original recipe and date of creation have long been lost to history, what's sure is that this was created at the Raffles Hotel, Singapore by Long Bar's Ngiam Tong Boon. This version, based on the memories of those who still work there, contains Plymouth Gin, Cherry Heering, Benedictine, Cointreau and orange bitters lengthened by pineapple juice and served long over crushed ice.

Dark & Stormy  45

OLD'S COOL

Today's cocktails owe their existence to these timeless classics and the pioneers who created them. To the best of our knowledge (and one or two personal twists aside), these represent the drinks as they were originally intended. The great thing about cocktails is that every one has a hundred variations – so please don't hold us to our accuracy.enjoy.

Old Fashioned 55

Legend states that this was originally mixed at the famous Pendennis Club in Louisville for one Colonel James Pepper, who liked it so much that he introduced it to the Waldorf on his next visit to New York. Made properly this drink is the best you can get, made improperly and you'll fail to see what all the fuss is about: A Peychaud bitters soaked brown sugar cube is muddled with orange zest and a suggestion of maraschino syrup. We then lovingly stir the mix through with Woodford Reserve Kentucky bourbon until the correct amount of dilution has occurred. Good things certainly come to those who wait!

Aviation 39

Cruelly forgotten by time (and a worldwide shortage of a key ingredient) this satisfyingly tart combination of Plymouth gin, Luxardo Maraschino and fresh lime juice is currently undergoing a global renaissance.

Hemingway Daiquiri 39

Re-named after the man himself: Havana Club Especial, Luxardo Maraschino, fresh lime and pink grapefruit juice.

Bloody Mary 39

Our version of Harry MacElhone's masterpiece will have vegetarians running for the hills. Skyy Pure vodka, Worcester, red Tabasco and heavily seasoned tomato juice are lent assuring body by a dash of Demi Glace.

Mint Julep 55

Prevalent throughout the deep south of the U.S. during the 19th century, this master of drinks has since earned its place upon the Pantheon of Greats; this is in no small measure due to its long standing association with the Kentucky Derby, of which it is the official drink: A large measure of Woodford Reserve bourbon is stirred through with fresh mint leaves and simple syrup. Served in a chilled steel goblet.

Classic Martini 50

A book can be written on the many claimed origins of this ubiquitous classic, some dating back as far back as 1862. What has evolved, however, is a cocktail that is held synonymous with style and sophistication: A large measure of either Premium gin or 42 Below vodka is stirred until chilled with a suggestion of dry vermouth. Garnished with either olives or a twist of lemon and served wet, dry or dirty. . . . the choice is yours.

Classic Margarita 50

If the legend of Margarita Sames is to be believed, this quintessentially Mexican cocktail has recently celebrated its 60th birthday! We believe that it is best served as simple as possible – Sauza Hornitos tequila, triple sec, fresh citrus juice and sugar syrup are served straight up with a salt rim.

Of course we can prepare this however you wish – long, short, straight up, on the rocks, even with your favourite fruit – but sorry guys, not blended. . . .

Classic Daiquiri 50

Like many great drinks, this classic Bacardi cocktail stems from humble origins. In the Daiquiri's case it's believed by most to be 1915 and the village of Daiquiri, near Santiago, Cuba. We use a liberal measure of Bacardi 8yr rum and shake enthusiastically with fresh lime juice and demerara syrup.

Served straight up but of course we can prepare this however you wish – long, short, straight up, on the rocks, even with your favourite fruit – but sorry guys, not blended. . . .
